Allied Combat Team Cracks
Red Resistance at SuwonU. N. COUNTER THRUST TAKES FOURTH TOWN

Tokyo, Jan. 16—(AP)—An Allied tank-infantry combat team
cracked through a shell of Communist resistance today and plunged into the airport city of Suwon.
It is 17 air miles south of the reddened capital of Seoul.

It was the fourth town — and
first major objective — to fall to the United Nations troops in their big eastern front counter-thrust — called a reconnaissance in force.

There was no indication that the Allied forces would remain in Su-
won for any length of time.

A spokesman in the field explained that it is the usual practice on reconnaissance missions of this type to probe enemy positions,
determine their strength, gather as much information as possible and then withdraw.

An A.P. field dispatch said three separate light plane observers
first confirmed the Allied entrance to Suwon. The drive into the old alled town began at 2 p. m. Tuesday (Monday midnight, EST).

The Allied force routed about 90 Red troops in Suwon. The bulk of the Communist garrison had been Monday under fierce Allied bombing and strafing attacks.

hundreds of Reds were machine-
gunned on the road running north of Suwon.

The Allied western drive began Monday south of Osan.

On the central front, Allied force
pulled out of the Wonju wedge here for 16 days they had held
it massed Red Korean attacks.

The U. S. Eighth Army announced the central front pullback to the defensive line set up after the retreat from Seoul.

The western force Monday re-
captured three towns — Osan, Anmyang and Chon. Osan, 28
miles south of Seoul, was the place where first American soldier
of the Korean war was killed last July. Kamyang is 10 miles north and Chon is three miles south of there.

There was no indication that the western force was planning to go
all the way to Seoul. Three Red remains lay in its path. A.P. Correspondent Don Huth, said the Chinese 40th, 38th and 50th armies
at full strength about 120,000
troops — were massed south of the river near Seoul.

American airmen spotted 5,000
Red troops concentrated southeast of Seoul. They claimed 1,600 were killed in bombing and strafing attacks.

The Allied warplanes resumed their attacks Tuesday and said the roll of enemy dead was boosted to over 2,000.

The Wonju wedge had stuck like

Senator Proposes Congress

Washington, Jan. 16—(AP)—Senator Byrd proposed today that

and raise taxes by $9,500,000,000 instead of the $16,000,000,000 the president suggested.

Suspected Killer
Of Eight Blames
Plight On Spree

San Diego, Calif., Jan. 16—(AP)— Desperado William E. Cook, suspected killer of eight persons, huddled ill and meek in jail here today as authorities prepared to press Lindbergh law kidnapping
charges against him.

Almost simultaneously with the announcement of the ex-convict's
capture in Mexico, came word yesterday that the bodies of all five members of the Carl Mosser family, who he is charged with murdering, had been found near Cook's home town of Joplin, Mo.

Discovered in water in an unused mine shaft were the bodies of Mosser, 33; his wife, Thelma, 29;
Ronald Dean, seven; Cary Carl,
five, and Pamela Sue, three. All had been shot, the parents and older
boy having been bound and gagged
first.

They were last seen alive with Cook some two weeks ago. The finding of their blood-soaked auto
near Tulsa, Okla., Jan. 3 touched off an exhaustive search for them
and the 23-year-old badman.

Cook was flown here yesterday
and arraigned on federal charges
of kidnapping. He also is charged with fleeing to avoid prosecution
on a charge of murdering Robert E. Dewey, 33, Seattle salesman, near Blythe, Calif., Jan. 6, and flight to avoid prosecution on Oklahoma robbery charges. A hearing was set for Jan. 29.

Returned to jail without bail,
Cook was found to have dysentery
and a fever of 101.

FBI Agent E. C. Richardson,
who directed the widespread man-
hunt from here, said he was
"greatly pleased with the fine cooperation of the Mexican authorities."

The tip which led police to Santa Rosalia came from Xavier Gonzales and Jerry Grant, employees
at a mine near the town. They told Tijuana police last Tuesday
they had exchanged greetings with three men in a maroon sedan on a highway near Santa Rosalia.

James Burke and Forrest Darnon, missing more than a week, had
been riding in a maroon sedan.

Then Chief Morales and a posse
headed south.

General Eisenhower Leaves For Lisbon
After Concluding London Conferences

London, Jan. 16—(AP)—General "Ike" Eisenhower declared today that so long as Japan and Germany remained in the realm of politics soldiers are obliged to keep their mouths shut.

The statement was made to a news conference in reply to a question as he was concluding the last part of his stay in London and preparing to leave for Lisbon, continuing his survey tour of the Atlantic pact nations whose international army he now commands.

There was no reference either in questions or comment about the spearheaded British newspaper complaint that another general, Douglas MacArthur, often spoke out
then the British wished he might remain quiet.

Eisenhower conferred with British cabinet minister and then left plane for Lisbon, Portugal, on the next leg of his tour.

He ended his 70-hour stay here
after lunching with Prime Minister Attlee and talking with cabinet
officers and service chiefs on Britain's role in the alliance against Communist aggression.

At No. 10 Downing St. Attlee
and Defense Minister Emanuel Criswell waved goodbye as the general's car left for the airport.

MILD TEMPERATURE
REPORTED ON WAY

Pittsburgh, Jan. 16—(AP)—
Milder temperatures, falling rivers
and clearing skies promised western Pennsylvania a respite today
from winter's chilling grasp.

The mercury is expected to dip
25 degrees tonight but climb 40 tomorrow afternoon. There is no snow or rain forecast. The vers at Pittsburgh have crested at 19.19, more than five feet below flood stage.

FINE'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS CALLS
FOR SACRIFICES AND HIGHER TAXESU. S. BOMBERS
IN EUROPE ON
MYSTERY TRIP

London, Jan. 16—(AP)—The first group of America's biggest bombers—the 10-engine B-36—
ever to fly to Europe landed at Lakenheath Airport today after a mysterious flight from Texas.

The planes are capable of carrying the atom bomb more than 10,000 miles.

Six of the air giants arrived
in the flight which started last Saturday from Carswell air force
at Fort Worth, Texas, it was announced there. Headquarters of the U. S. Third Air Division here refused, however, to say how many planes made the trip.

Strategic Air Command headquarters at Omaha, Neb., said the planes made one stop en route, at Limestone Air Force base in Maine. From there the planes flew a straight route to England.

This explained why the sky
giants, capable of more than 400
miles an hour, took three days to make the trip from Texas to England, a distance of about 5,000 miles. Earlier SAC had ordered that no reason be given why the planes took so long to get there.

While the planes and crews are scheduled to return to Texas in a few days, there have been persistent rumors that B-36's would be stationed in England because of the worsening world situation.

Lakenheath Field, 70 miles northeast of London, was taken over by the Third Air Division
in 1948 as a base for B-29 and B-50 training operations.

In Washington an Air Force
spokesman explained the flight
was part of the program for teaching navigation and fuel consumption techniques to the crews
of the heavy bombers.

(The B-36s used approximately 24 hours flying time to make the trip to England. This indicates they probably flew over a wandering course of more than 7,000
miles.)

(Commander of the lead plane
was Lt. Col. Richard T. Black of Hollywood, Calif. The planes flew individually, instead of in formation.)

(They are expected to start
back for the United States late
this week, probably about Saturday. They will fly individually on separate missions, fanning out for the return trip.)

Bills Would Alter
Oleomargarine Law

Harrisburg, Jan. 16—(AP)—The state senate today had before it
three bills to alter legislation relating to the sale of oleomargarine.

Two of the three bills, all introduced yesterday, proposed repeal of present sale restrictions
and allowing the sale of colored margarine.

A third measure, to codify
present oleo legislation, was submitted by Sen. Robert D. Fleming (R-Allegheny).

The bills to allow the sale of colored oleo were introduced by Sen. Anthony Dislivestro (D-Phila.), and by a trio of western Pennsylvania Democrats — Sens.
Elmer J. Holland and Joseph M.
Barr, of Pittsburgh, and William
J. Lane, of Washington county.

New FEPC Legislation also appeared in the 1951 senate as the first bills were introduced.

Sen. Albert R. Pechan (R-Armstrong) presented a measure aimed at elimination of racial and religious discrimination in employment. The bill, if applicable, could be used against employers, employment agencies and labor organizations.

"Self-preservation demands that we act before the Soviets strike,"
said the man who a secretary of state met many times with Russian diplomats.

"We must rouse our friends in Europe (and) impress on them
that the time has come to stop
talking and begin acting," he said.

On the home front, Byrnes contended there should be no delay in freezing wages and prices. The World War II Director of Economic Stabilization and War Mobilization insisted that every day
such a freeze is delayed "there will be more inequities, higher prices and additional costs to the taxpayer."

Byrnes, now 72, said the government's policy of his native state will be his last public office.

CHESSE AND CHECKERS
An enthusiastic group met last evening at the YMCA to discuss the possibility of forming a Chess
and Checker Club for Warren, after which it was decided there would be a meeting next Monday
evening when such an organization
will be formed. Following the business meeting those present indulged in some close and interesting games.

The appearance of one delegation wearing light five-gallon hats
made the inaugural crowd think
of Texas but that was just the way a Butler county group took to give more color to the scene. The delegation of 40 was headed by Ray G. Miller, Butler county Republican chairman.

ALLIES RETAKE OSAN—Chinese Reds fled burning Suwon (1)
as American troops and tanks exploded counter-attack south of Seoul and retook Osan. On central front (2), elements of three North Korean divisions infiltrated in Tanyang (3) area in attempt to cut around 2nd Division troops fighting south of Wonju. Another Red force speared down to the Hamchang-Andong axis (4), just 50 miles from the old Pusan perimeter.

Leaders Consider Asking Approval Of
Senate to Send U. S. Troops to Europe

Washington, Jan. 16—(AP)—Democratic leaders today considered asking the senate to approve the dispatch of American troops to Europe to bolster North Atlantic defenses.

Although President Truman has said he doesn't need congress approval of such a move, Senator McFarland of Arizona, the party floor leader, told a reporter:

"I have no objection to the senate's voting on the general principle of whether we should support
the Atlantic treaty with our military forces."

Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) said he will force the issue if the administration does not move to bring the question to a vote.

Interested senators said the matter is being laid before the Democratic policy committee with the possibility that a resolution approving the transfer of troops may be forthcoming soon.

This would counter a resolution
offered by Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican leader, to prohibit the transfer of any troops
until congress approves the action
in advance. Wherry contends his proposal merely would delay a million.

Wood Is Sworn In
As Lieut. Governor

Harrisburg, Jan. 16—(AP)—
Lloyd H. Wood, of Norristown, took the oath of office as Pennsylvania's lieutenant-governor today promising to be "fair and just" during his term.

The oath of office was administered in the chamber of the state
senate by President Judge J. Paul Rupp, of Dauphin county court,
with retiring Gov. James H. Duff
and new governor John S. Fine looking on.

Wood's appearance in the senate
was nothing new to the Montgomery county attorney for he had just completed a term as a state senator himself.

M. Harvey Taylor (R-Dauphin)
president pro tempore of the senate presented the gavel to Lt.
Gov. Wood, signifying the authority to preside in the senate.

Wood succeeds Daniel B. Strickler, who went on a military leave of absence last September as commanding officer of Pennsylvania's 28th Infantry Division, now serving at Camp Atterbury, Ind.

In his address, Wood praised the senate for rendering "the first order of public service."

NEW NOTE TO RUSSIA

Paris, Jan. 16—(AP)—The western powers' newest note to Russia
on a big power meeting goes to the Kremlin this weekend, it was authoritatively learned here today.

The big three note, fourth in the interchange that began last Nov.
3, is being "touched" up today in Washington by diplomats of the United States, Britain and France.

Blames Tragedy On Misunderstanding

Philadelphia, Jan. 16—(AP)—The pilot of an airliner that crashed
at International Airport Sunday is quoted as saying he landed his plane in the middle of a 5,350-foot
runway because of a misunderstanding.

Larry Cates, representative of
the Airline Pilots Association,
AFL, said the pilot told Civil Aeronautics Board investigators he thought an "under construction"
warning referred to about 1,000
feet of a strip that had been in service for some time.

The tower operator, however,
meant a 2,000-foot extension of the runway which is 65 per cent complete.

Seven persons were killed in the crash of the National Airlines DC-4.

The pilot, Capt. Harold Barwick, and co-pilot, Lieut. Edward J. Zatarain, both of Jacksonville, Fla.,
were questioned by CAB investigators yesterday.

The CAB will report its official findings after an open hearing in Washington, probably within 10
days, a spokesman said.

New Governor Inducted Into Office In Colorful Ceremony
Attended By Capacity Crowd

Harrisburg, Jan. 16—(AP)—John S. Fine, a son of the hard coal fields, was inaugurated governor of Pennsylvania today with a warning that "a multitude of sacrifices" and higher taxes will be needed in the critical days ahead.

The 57-year-old Fine, standing bare-headed in a stiff winter wind with the sun peeking through the clouds, took the oath at 12:06 p. m. on a hunting bedecked wooden inaugural stand erected at the foot of the capitol steps.

The new governor called in his inaugural address for rigid thrift
in state government—"strict Spartan living"—except in expenditures involving defense and human needs.

"We must face a temporary end
to luxuries, a curtailment of necessities to a minimum," Fine said
solemnly.

High state officials, headed by retiring Governor James H. Duff, judges of the state's appellate courts, legislators, and just plain citizens witnessed the colorful inauguration.

Some were seated in the inaugural stand, which fanned out across the capitol plaza with a seating capacity of 2,000. Others stood in the street and on the capitol grounds. Everybody hunched
in their overcoats against the bitting wind that tore loose one of the four pillars holding up the roof of the inaugural stand. The pillar swayed slowly back and forth but did not topple.

Col. C. M. Wilhelm, commissioner of state police estimated the crowd at 10,000.

The pomp and pageantry of the transfer of power from governor
to another started with the traditional automobile trip by Fine
and Duff from the brownstone executive mansion to the capitol and the inaugural stand. Duff goes to Washington tomorrow as Pennsylvania's U. S. Senator.

The oath was administered by Chief Justice James B. Drew, of
the state supreme court. Both Drew and Fine bowed their heads
for the ceremony despite the chilly
wind.

Fine, a moment before Drew finished the oath of office interjected
"I do" and then repeated a second
"I do" in a strong voice at the end.

Declaring his administration
starts "when we are engaged in a militant crusade for peace," Fine
told a crowd of high state and local officials attending his inauguration:

"We are living in a period that requires the most rigid economies in government for other than defense and human needs, and demands a multitude of sacrifices
on the part of each individual.

"This is the era of sacrifice, of strict spartan living, that freedom
may survive in a world threatened with enslavement. We will, and we must, endure endless restrictions so that we and others may remain free—free to work, free
to speak, free to worship."

"The nation, Fine said, is at war
and is beginning a war economy.
"More and more restrictive measures, harnessing industry and in-pointment.

Significant Contribution to State Tax
Units Made By Allegheny Nat'l Forest

Washington, D. C.—Leon H. Gavin of Oil City, representative in Congress from the 19th Pennsylvania District announced today that the Commonwealth is to receive a check from the Federal Treasury for $22,838.38 as its share of the receipts from the Allegheny National Forest for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1950. This payment is one that is made annually under authority of an act of Congress passed in 1908. This law provides that in lieu of taxes, 25% of the money collected from the sale of forest products, and for other permitted commercial and special uses of National Forests, is to be returned to the states in which the National Forests are located. These funds are to be used for the benefit of the schools and public roads of the counties within which the federally owned public forest lands are found.

The money is divided among the counties on the basis of the acreage involved. The National Forest areas of Pennsylvania counties are:
Elk county 113,068 acres, Forest county 111,306 acres, and Warren county 119,078 acres, all within the 19th Congressional District;
and 126,437 acres in McKean
county which is in the 15th Congressional District. This is a total of 469,889 acres of federally owned forest land within the Commonwealth.

Most of the receipts from the Allegheny National Forest come
from the sale of sawtimber, pulp,
chemical and other miscellaneous
wood products. These are processed in nearby Pennsylvania and
New York communities and Mr.
Gavin pointed out that in the ag-

Two Children Included Among the New Occupants of State Executive Mansion

Harrisburg, Jan. 16—(AP)—
Pennsylvania's 28th—executive mansion changed hands today. The Duff family, four year residents, moved out. The Fine family, late of Nanticoke, moved in.

In numbers at least the family
of John S. Fine, who took his place today as the Keystone state's 35th governor, will more than take the place of the family of James H.
Duff.

John and Helen Fine are bringing two children to the brownstone
mansion facing the Susquehanna river.

The Duffs have no children. The children of Edward Martin and Arthur H. James, the predecessors of Gov. James H. Duff, were grown up by the time their parents occupied the old mansion.

The children of the Fines, are Jack, 10, and Don, 8. They attend Wilkes-Barre day school at present, but expect to transfer to the Harrisburg Academy.

Because of the children, Mrs.
Fine expects to make one major change in the house that will be their home for the next four years.
"We'll reopen the recreation room," she announced.

The mid-Victorian mansion contains some 28 rooms, plus eight bathrooms. It was acquired by the commonwealth in 1864, but has been remodeled many times.

The landscape paintings and the large book collection of James and Jean Duff, already have been taken by the new senator and his wife to their new home in a Washington,
D. C., suburb.

But the Fines, will bring in their books, pictures and mementoes.

Chairman of Seal Sale Expresses His Appreciation

Deep appreciation was expressed to the people of Pennsylvania for their support of the work of the citizen tuberculosis societies through funds contributed during the 1950 Christmas Seal Sale in a statement made by Col. Henry W. Shoemaker, historian and diplomat, and chairman of the Christmas Seal Sponsoring Committee of the State, on behalf of himself and the Pennsylvania Tuberculosis and Health Society and its affiliated county organizations.

"The generous support of the Christmas Seal Sale is proof that citizens generally are determined to fight tuberculosis to the finish," he continued.

"Since tuberculosis is a year-round problem the Tuberculosis Societies are losing no time in putting into effect their plans for a more vigorous 1951 program of tuberculosis prevention and control."

"There is still time to make payment for Christmas Seals and Health Bonds. Contributions now are as welcome as they were during the official campaign period and will further strengthen the effort to provide better health for our homes and communities."

"The Pennsylvania Tuberculosis and Health Society and affiliated organizations work closely with the State Department of Health and local health authorities as well as the medical profession and community groups in carrying out tuberculosis case-finding, health education, and rehabilitation projects."

SAFETY PINS REMOVED

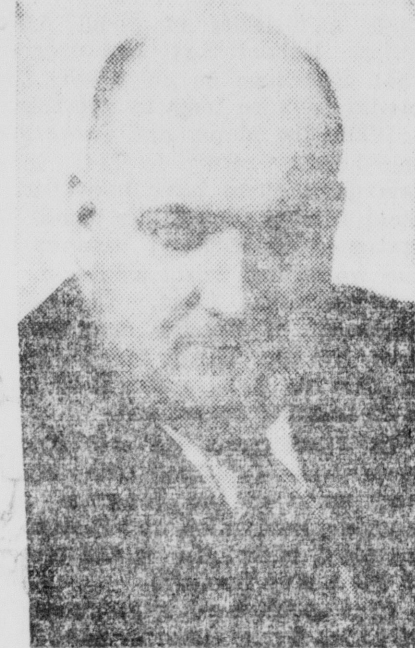

Titusville Herald: An 11-month-old baby swallowed two open safety pins Saturday evening, but after an emergency operation is making satisfactory progress. She is Geraldine Carrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Carrick of 119 West Bloss street. Taken to the Eye and Ear Hospital in Pittsburgh, she was operated upon yesterday morning. Both pins were removed, but she will have to remain in the hospital about seven days. Mr. Carrick said the pins the baby swallowed were of the small variety, about an inch long. As soon as the parents discovered something was wrong they took the girl to a physician and X-ray pictures were made at the Titusville Hospital. They showed one of the pins had lodged in the throat and the other was a little farther down. There are four other children in the family. Mr. Carrick is a New York Central fireman, formerly on local runs between here and Dunkirk. Last week he went on a main line firing job out of Erie.

Red Cross officials credit the above men and women with an honest effort to achieve the necessary quota for the January blood collection and can, of course excuse pledged donors who for good reasons phoned to cancel appointments. It is almost impossible to excuse people who had appointments who just didn't bother to show up or cancel in time to be replaced. Had it not been for an unusual number of thoughtless pledges, the quota would have been assured.

THE GRIM ACCEPTANCE

Every year at this time there's a "gee whizz" and "whew" reaction at the size of the president's estimate, in his budget message, of what it will cost to run the government another twelve months.

According to James Marlow, A. P. feature writer in Washington, there was a little of that Monday, plus the usual statements that the budget can be cut, at least for running the government at home. Generally, there was grim acceptance of a reality:

The cost of defense and survival comes high. Underneath the grimness was the realization that this latest budget was only peanuts compared with what it will cost if this country gets into an actual shooting war with Russia.

True, this capital and the country were torn by the so-called "great debate" on foreign policy. That debate, if it could be boiled down to a few sentences, would go like this:

1. Should we pretty well lock ourselves up in the western hemisphere and let Europe look out for itself, even if it means its being overrun by Russia?

2. Should we try to hold on to our Allies in Europe and, if so, how much help should we give them?

3. Does the president have authority to send troops overseas, and perhaps into war, without prior approval by congress?

The result of the debate may well change the fate of the world, and this country's, too, whatever the answer may be.

But meanwhile the man in the street and everyone else, for that matter, whether he's in congress or Pentagon, is asking himself the question:

No matter what we do, how long do we have to keep on doing it?

The feeling now is different from what it was when this country was thrown into war in 1941 by the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

Then there was an upsurge of American fury and a feeling there would be a definite end to the struggle, not too far off, and all that was needed was great effort, by those at home and those in uniform.

Now no one knows how long the struggle against Communism will last, or whether it will explode into shooting with Russia in the spring, or in 1952 or 1953, or whether it will explode that way at all but rather be a long night of preparedness.

One thing is accepted: That life-as-usual in America is over for some time to come, that from now on there will be sacrifices: Higher taxes, less goods, service in uniform.

FIRST 100 YEARS THE HARDEST

People haven't changed much in the last 100 years, Mrs. Mariah H. Breckon, of Montreal, Canada, is quoted as saying. She should be a fair judge since she recently celebrated her 100th birthday anniversary.

"I've lived through many wars, watched five English monarchs and 21 American presidents come and go," she reminisced. "Some changes I've seen have been for the better—some were not—but I do not believe that the people of today are really any different from those of 90 or 100 years ago."

Mrs. Breckon was born Mariah Dorr of Clayton, N. Y., in 1850, and when 21, married John Breckon. They settled in Ottawa where Mrs. Breckon took up oil painting. She has had several of her works on exhibition, but had to give up painting eight years ago because of failing eyesight.

About the future? "My generation had its difficult times but we survived," she said, "and I know the world will straighten itself out again."

PROCEED WITH CAUTION

For the first time in many weeks mildly encouraging reports have come out of Indo-China. French forces, fighting under their new commander, Gen. De Lattre de Tassigny, have retaken a number of forts previously lost to the rebel Viet Minh armies.

De Lattre has repeated his determination to yield no more ground to the Communists from here on.

It's too soon, however, for broad optimism. The Chinese Reds, who are helping the Viet Minh, presently are pre-occupied in Korea. The real crisis for Indo-China may come when and if they are no longer thus involved and can devote fuller attention to Ho Chi Minh's cause.

American Legion officers, members as well as school officials and pupils are to be commended for the wonderful success of the Tide of Toys collection.

Two Birds With One Stone, He Hopes

Here And There

Fifty years ago this week papers of Warren were bemoaning the possibility of the passing of what was then called "Recreation Park," according to a paragraph in a column entitled "Current Comment," in the Evening Times of January 16, 1901, which says: "In the spring Recreation Park is to be abandoned for building lots, and with its dismantling will go all immediate hopes for a baseball team. The park was laid out in 1895, when baseball excitement was at fever heat in Warren. Afterwards it was used for bicycle races, a fine track being constructed. For a time the park was kept up, lighted at night and made a favorite resort, but it was never a paying investment, and gradually was allowed to lapse into disuse and decay. The grandstand is now more or less of a wreck, the track has grown up to weeds, and the field is rough and unsightly. It is unfortunate that grounds so centrally located and so well equipped, should be permitted to go by the boards, but there is no money to redeem it. The march of progress will trample it under, and in a few months city streets, lined with houses, will cover first base where the celebrated Wagner was wont to stick his mitt to the ground and coral red hot liners. In the meantime what is Warren to do for grounds whereon the sports of the day may be played? Irvinedale park is an ideal recreation ground but it is not adapted to the requirements of baseball or football."

This And That: The State Health Department has reported that 63 counties of the state have reported 1,416 cases of infantile paralysis during the year, marking the second highest year for the disease since 1940; the highest year was 1944 when 1,494 cases were reported. . . . Formation of a Doctors' Service Bureau through which a physician is available in the Meadville area at all times is announced by a Crawford County Medical Society committee. . . . An "unidentified" team from Warren lost a bowling match on the Eagles alleys in Titusville Sunday by a total of 362 pins, according to the Herald, which lists the local kegglers as follows: Dutch, Gilson, Ross, Mortz and Dudley. . . . Want a chunk of plaster or a chip of wood from the White House in Washington as a souvenir? The House has been informed that souvenir bits of brick, nails and wood would be made available to congress members February first for their constituents, as a result of the $5,000,000 reconstruction job under way on the structure. . . . In Harrisburg today to take in the ceremonies incident to the inauguration of Governor Fine were Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Clinger, of this city. . . . Here's an advertisement from the Warren Evening Times of 50 years ago today that makes interesting reading just now: "Sugar has advanced; we have lots of it, and until Saturday night, January 19th, will sell granulated at six cents; if you buy $2 worth of other goods you get 18 pounds of granulated sugar for $1, the only Great Cash Grocery, near post office, G. H. Strickland."

Cindering Crews Will Use Flares

Harrisburg—In an effort to reduce the hazards of cindering operations on icy roads at night, Secretary of Highways Ray F. Smock has directed the use of flares.

Their use will give added safety to both motorists and Highway Department maintenance forces.

The flare which is similar to the type used by the State Police will burn for 20 minutes, thereby warning motorists that within that period of time or less they will encounter a cindering operation.

Since cinders are applied to highways during snow and ice storms, vision is obscured and slippery conditions that prolong braking distances prevail.

Hence Smock said the longer warning period is expected to result in fewer accidents.

Two highway department employees have been killed and a number have received fractured bones during this winter's exceptionally severe weather. Use of the flares is expected to reduce these accidents.

As a chemical, 75 times more sugar is produced in the United States than any other pure, organic compound.

Judge To Speak

Judge Allison D. Wade will be the principal speaker at a meeting of the Youngsville Evangelical United Brethren Brotherhood to be held at the church Thursday evening at eight o'clock. Judge Wade will talk on "What Can the Church and Community Do for Its Youth?"

It is expected that a large crowd will be present to hear Judge Wade present his program. His years of experience in dealing with delinquency problems give him the background from which to speak.

Other features of the program will be accordian solos by Russell Klingner, member of the Youngsville high school faculty; group singing led by Wilford Meelen; and devotions by the Christian Worship Commission.

All men of the church and community are cordially invited to attend, and to bring as their guests any young men of 16 years or older.

Refreshments will be served to conclude the meeting.

Highlights of President's Budget Message

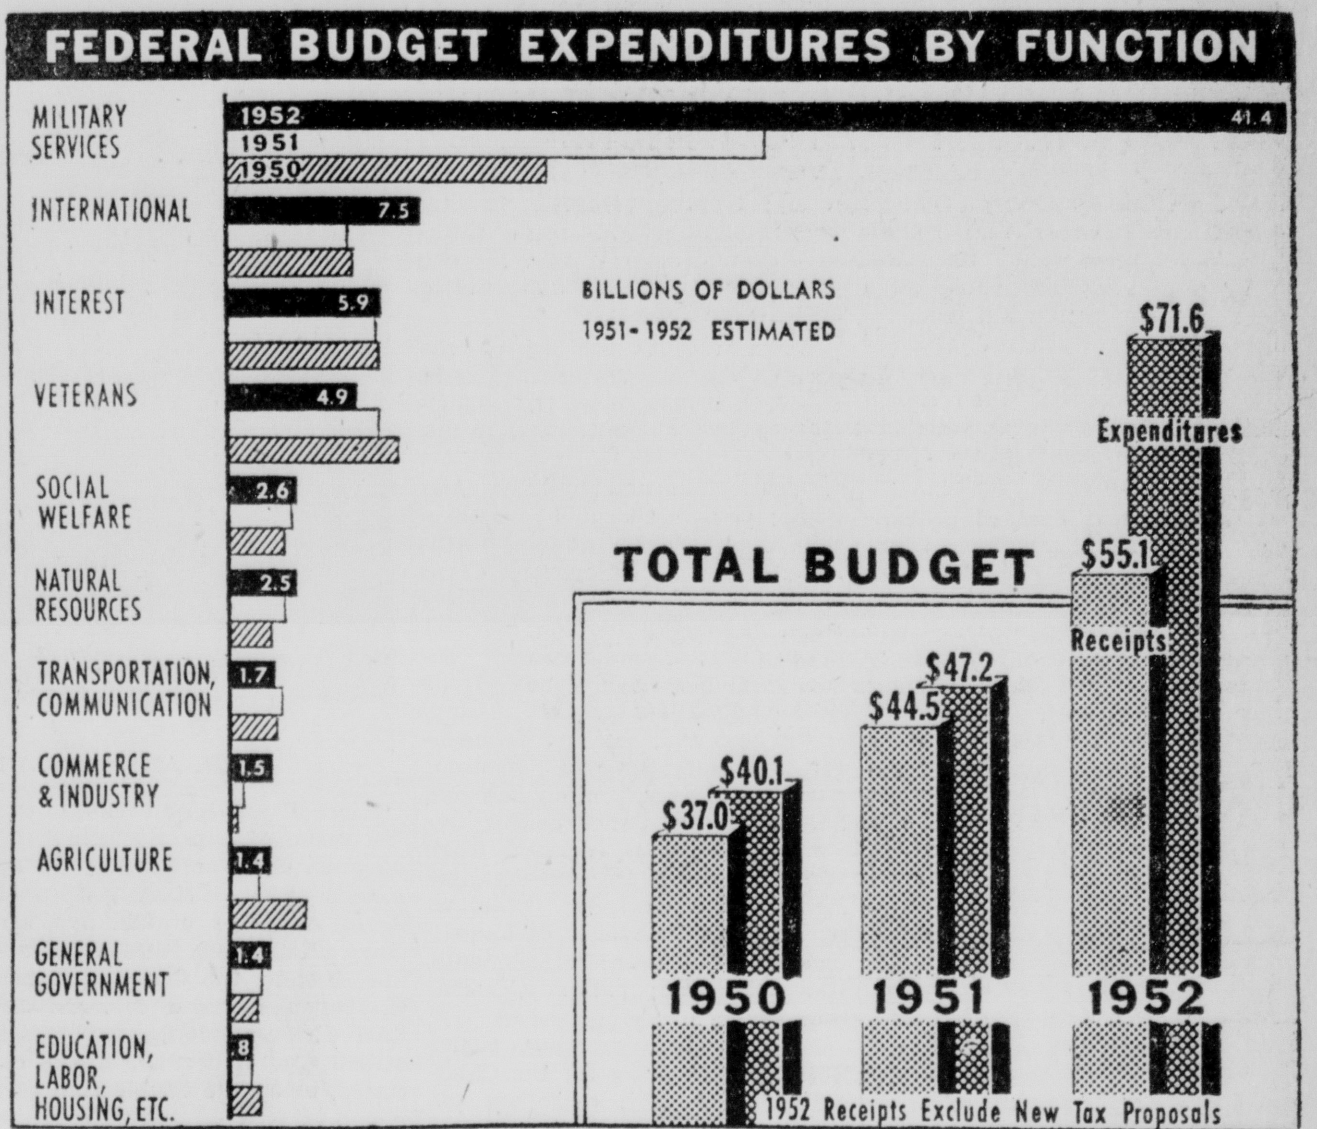

THE BUDGET DOLLAR—More than half of every dollar President Truman seeks for fiscal 1952 will go to the armed forces. Breakdown of federal income sources shows that greatest burden of providing the estimated $71.6 billion Uncle Sam will spend in fiscal 1952 will fall on the individual income taxpayer, with corporation taxes providing the second biggest slice.

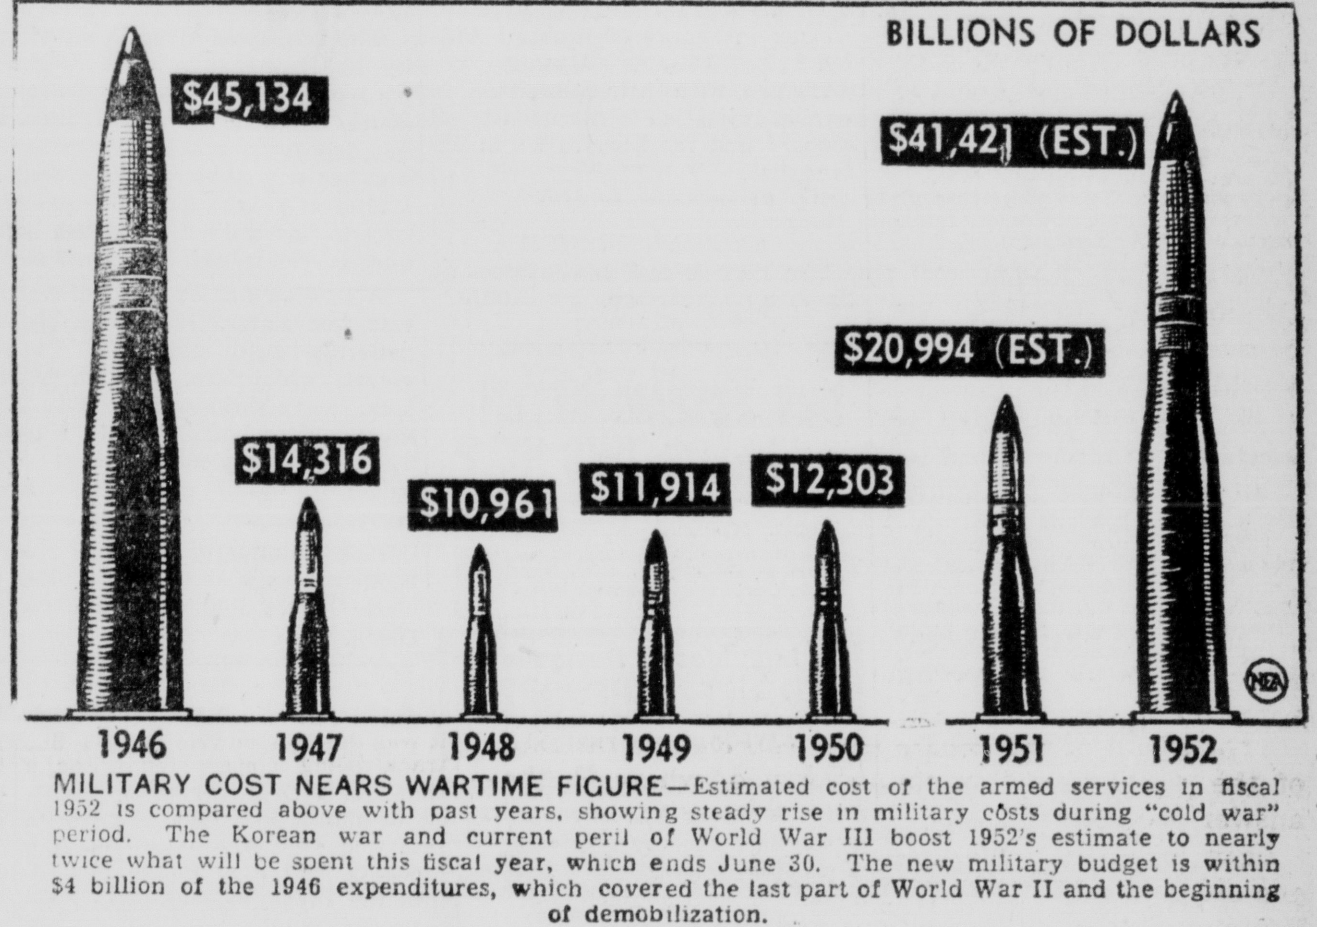

HOW DEFICIT JUMPS—Money-bag symbols show how deficit in the new budget for the 1952 fiscal year is more than twice the total of the three preceding fiscal years. To meet the new budget's $16.5 billion deficit, President Truman calls for the biggest tax increase in history.

GOING UP!—Estimated federal expenditures for fiscal 1952 will eat up more than one-quarter of the national income. This "peacetime" bite is almost half that of fiscal 1945—the peak war year.

UNBALANCED BUDGET—Inset compares estimated total federal receipts and expenditures for the new fiscal 1952 budget with those for 1951 (est.) and 1950. Large chart, diagramming amounts allocated to principal budget items, shows the military services eating up $41.4 billion of the $71.6 billion budget total. To this $41 billion of direct military spending in fiscal 1952, add $11 billion for "national security." This includes $7.4 billion for foreign aid—largely to help arm our Allies—and $1.2 billion for speed-up on atomic weapons production. President Truman's budget message indicated military spending will hit $60 billion in the next fiscal years.

MILITARY COST NEARS WARTIME FIGURE—Estimated cost of the armed services in fiscal 1952 is compared above with past years, showing steady rise in military costs during "cold war" period. The Korean war and current peril of World War III boost 1952's estimate to nearly twice what will be spent this fiscal year, which ends June 30. The new military budget is within $4 billion of the 1946 expenditures, which covered the last part of World War II and the beginning of demobilization.

Number Receiving Assistance Down

During 1950 the number of persons receiving public assistance in Pennsylvania decreased by 91,500, or 21%, according to figures furnished by the Department of Public Assistance.

As the year closed, there were 271 cases numbering 371 persons on the assistance list in Warren county. General assistance listed 25; old-age assistance included 130; there were 121 dependent children receiving aid; and 95 persons being paid blind pensions.

As the year closed, the number of assistance cases was rising, although there was a decrease in old-age recipients due chiefly to the recent increase in Federal Social Security benefits.

Seasonal factors may cause further upward trend, but it is felt by department officials that as soon as the defense program gets fully under way, further expansion of business will raise employment levels.

Allen Johnson, Warren, is reported among students at Roberts Wesleyan College, North Chili, N. Y., who were chosen for the dean's list for the second term's work, earning the rating for his work in higher algebra. Each student at Roberts Wesleyan College enrolls in one subject during each seven-week term, concentrating all his efforts on the single course. Five subjects are studied during the complete academic year, which enables a student to earn credits equivalent to the work required under the standard semester plan of study where students take five courses concurrently. Only a few colleges in America operate on this single-course plan, which is known as "The Hiram Plan."

Warren County Nurses' Unit Getting Set Up Under New Redistricting Plan

Warren County Unit of District Seven, Pennsylvania State Nurses Association, has held its first meeting and is functioning as a part of the experiment for redistricting of the Nurses' Association in the state.

Much interest has been shown in the plan for bringing activities of this professional group closer to each community.

After a great deal of preliminary planning, done by Clara Hammer and her committee, an initial meeting was held in the fall. The following officers were elected at a subsequent meeting:

President, Mary K. A'Harrah; first vice president, Clara Hammer; second vice president, Mary Konestoba; secretary, Mary Nagurney; treasurer, Dorothy Schultz; board of directors: Jessie Cuthbertson and Joan Weiler, for one year; Ada D. Boyle and Sigrid Johnson, two years.

At a recent meeting of the group, held at Warren General Hospital, chairmen of the following standing committees were appointed:

Constitution and by-laws, Ada Boyle; credentials and membership, Joan Weiler; finance, Catherine Sullivan; legislation, Clara Hammer; counseling and placement, Jessie Cuthbertson; nursing information, Joan McGarry; security and service funds, Irene Schrecongost; industrial nursing, Mary Rowland; nursing in medical care plans, Sigrid Johnson; nursing resources for civilian and military needs, Janet Dahler; recording of military service, Mary Nagurney; program and arrangements, Hazel Barley; practical nurses, Ada Boyle; parliamentarian, Hazel Smith; refreshments, Hilma Pearson; publicity, Elizabeth Black.

At this same meeting, Claire Elliott, case worker for the Children's Aid Society, explained the functions of a Family Society and the benefits Warren county would receive from such an organization.

"I WANT TO TELL THIS TO WOMEN IN YOUR 40's"

I find Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound wonderful to relieve distress of 'change of life'

"Any woman between the ages of 35 and 52 should be interested in my experience. I was going through functional change of life and found myself terribly embarrassed from hot flushes, and I felt so nervous, easily upset because of this.

"What really shocked me was when I overheard my husband explaining my shortcomings behind my back. He said, 'Don't mind Louise—she's going through change of life.' That made up my mind. I had heard how effective Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was for relieving such symptoms, and I decided then and there to try it. Thank heavens I did.

"I find Pinkham's Compound simply marvelous to relieve embarrassing symptoms due to this cause. In fact I now take Lydia Pinkham's Compound regularly to help build up resistance against hot flushes, tense emotions, flighty, nervous, tired feelings—due to this cause. I wish anyone when troubled this way would try this great medicine."

P.S. Pinkham's Compound tastes sweet in a little fruit juice or plain water. A wonderfully effective medicine made especially for women.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD E. LINDQUIST

First Presbyterian church was the scene of a pretty formal wedding Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, when Mary Elizabeth Keim, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harr. Keim, 109 West Fifth avenue, became the bride of Richard E. Lindquist, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl G. Lindquist, 13 Russell street. Dr. Robert S. Steen officiated, using the double ring ceremony.

The vows were taken before an altar decorated with a large basket of white gladioli and mums, placed against a background of palms. Mrs. Lindquist, mother of the bridegroom, was accompanied by Carroll A. Fowler as she sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of ivory satin with sweeping court train. Her veil of illusion net fell from braided ivory satin and her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow and white mums.

Attending her as maid of honor was her sister, Jean, wearing a ballerina-length gown of wine velvet, while Mrs. William Wedlock, as a bridesmaid, wore an identical frock of green velvet. They wore matching braids of velvet for their headbands and carried bouquet like the bride's.

Jack Kammerer served Mr. Lindquist as best man and ushers were Gilbert Johnson and Carlton Olson.

Annual Meetings At Sugar Grove Church

Sugar Grove, Jan. 16—Members of the congregation and Sunday school held their annual meetings in the Presbyterian church with a good turnout.

The financial report showed satisfactory progress, with all bills paid for current expenses and some repairs, and a surplus in the treasury.

The pastor concluded a devotional period for the Sunday school session and Paul Carlberg, Sr., was in charge of the business meeting. Reports of officers were given and Everett Bowers presented the slate of officers, with elections resulting as follows.

Superintendent, Paul Carlberg; assistant, Everett Bowers; secretary, Catherine McClure; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Scott Stuart, Sr.; treasurer, Frank B. Miller, elementary superintendent, Mrs. Paul Carlberg; assistant, Mrs. Earl Capron; home department superintendent, Mrs. J. E. Abbott; cradle roll superintendent, Mrs. Ray Gruber; Christian Education superintendent, Mrs. Allan Frank; pianist of adult department, Miss Martha Ann Grant; assistant, Miss Cynthia McKay; pianist for elementary department, Nancy Bowers.

Mother-in-Law Can Get On Young Couple's Nerves

"MY own mother is my biggest problem," writes a young wife. "She lives with my husband and me and though she tries, I know, to fit into the family as well as possible, it has gotten so that my husband and I never have a free evening, unless we are invited to someone else's house."

"We plan to go to a movie and she always jumps at our invitation to go along with us."

"We invite guests for the evening and she sits with us until they leave."

"She never goes to her room until we are ready to go upstairs to our room, so the living room is never just ours for an evening."

"I have a wonderful husband and he doesn't complain. But I know he often wishes that we could sometimes be a twosome instead of a threesome."

ONCE STARTED, IT'S HARD TO CHANGE

THE worst thing about that set-up is that once it has been established it is almost impossible to change it, without hurting the mother's feelings.

Still and all, the wife owes it to herself, her husband, and to their marriage to see to it that some system is worked out whereby the couple can spend some of their leisure time alone.

If she talks frankly to her mother about the situation, the frankness may hurt the mother's feelings. But as long as she knows she is a loved and welcome member of the family, the hurt shouldn't be too deep.

The pity is that the mother has to be told, for she should be able to figure it out for herself.

After all, she probably felt exactly the same way that her daughter feels when she lived with her husband in her own home.

Book By Native Author Reviewed

Blind dates are not uncommon, blind bogies are familiar to many, but the Woman's Club on Monday thoroughly enjoyed a blind book review, the title of which was not divulged until the end, when the author was presented to the club members.

The review covered a novel which sounded like present day Washington, rife with Russian plots and counterplots and diplomatic intrigue. However, the book was published in 1905 and titled, "The Secretary of State."

The author, who was presented as a climax to the review, was Miss Ella Middleton Tybout, past president of the Woman's Club and well known native of Warren.

This unusual review was presented by Mrs. Spencer Myer. Its novel and skillful presentation made the review an outstanding one.

Mrs. S. M. McClure, vice chairman of the Literature Department, presided at the meeting. An excellent resume of our foreign policy was given by Mrs. Harry Lewis of the public affairs committee.

Tea was served by the hostess, Mrs. G. W. Walker, with Mrs. Byron Knapp and Mrs. Raymond Steber pouring.

STARBRICK PTA HEARS FINE TALK

Members of the Starbrick PTA spent an enjoyable evening at their regular meeting, listening to Miss Matilda Steinhoff's account of her many trips to Mexico and viewing the priceless souvenirs which she has brought back with her.

Due to the fact that so much interest was shown by Starbrick people in their efforts to raise money for the purchase of library books, so badly needed in the school, a gift of $100 was given the PTA by Robert and Duane Wilder.

Mrs. Calvin Buerkle, program chairman, announced the February 11 meeting will be observed as Founders' Day and a cake walk will be part of the evening's entertainment.

Concluding the meeting, refreshments were served in the cafeteria by the following committee: Mrs. Hazel McKillip, Mrs. Louise Franklin, Mrs. Evelyn White, Mrs. Evangeline Chase and Mrs. Beatrice Hamblin.

WORKERS CONFERENCE

All members are urged to be present for the Sunday School Workers quarterly conference to be held at 7:45 this evening in Salem Evangelical United Brethren church.

Conewango Girl Scout Group Elects Officers

A well attended meeting of the Conewango Girl Scout Neighborhood Club was held at the home of Mrs. William Dashem, 22 Jefferson avenue, for election of officers.

Mrs. C. L. McCarty was reelected chairman for the third term. Mrs. Hazel Shield will act as assistant chairman; Mrs. Jane Check was named secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. G. B. Gright was asked to handle publicity. Mrs. McCarty congratulated members on the success of the Scout nut sale and announced a cookie sale in the spring.

Mrs. Walter Mathyer, organization chairman of Warren County Council of Girl Scouts, explained the national policies of the organization. Troop leaders gave reports of the work done in their groups and exchanged ideas for troop activities. To conclude, refreshments were served by Mrs. Dashem and her committee.

The next meeting will be held March 8 at the home of Mrs. Shield.

FINE BOOK REVIEW FOR YWCA GATHERING

An excellent review of the book "East of Home" by Santha Rama was enjoyed by 40 guests at the YWCA's monthly dessert-meeting. Preceding the review, Mrs. Harriet Wilkins entertained with a piano selection.

Mrs. Carl Lundahl was hostess for the afternoon, with Mrs. Louise Baker giving the invocation; Mrs. Milton Witz, Mrs. C. W. Loney and Mrs. W. F. Bennett serving the dessert. Tables were attractively decorated with a snow theme arranged by Mrs. Floyd Bathurst.

HERE'S the recipe for a velvety rich, fresh-staying chocolate cake. It rates No. 1 on the home-made cake parade. We've had many requests to reprint this recipe:

Brazil Nut Devil's Food Cake
One-quarter cup shortening, 2 cups firmly-packed brown sugar, 2 eggs, 4 squares (4 ounces) unsweetened chocolate, melted, 1/2 cup chopped Brazil nuts, 2 cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla. Cream shortening; add sugar gradually and cream thoroughly. Add eggs, one at a time and beat until light and fluffy. Add melted chocolate and beat well.

Mix in Brazil nuts. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt; add flour mixture alternately with milk to batter. Stir in vanilla. Pour into 2 deep greased 8-inch layer pans and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 35 to 40 minutes.

Let stand 5 minutes and remove from pan. Cover with glossy chocolate frosting and garnish with Brazil nut petals. Yield: 2 8-inch layers.

Glossy Chocolate Frosting

Three squares (3 ounces) unsweetened chocolate, melted, 1 1/4 cups sifted confectioner's sugar, 3 tablespoons hot water, 3 egg yolks, unbeaten, 1/4 cup butter or margarine.

Pour melted chocolate into mixing bowl. Add sugar and water; mix well. Add egg yolks, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Beat 1 tablespoon of butter at a time in the mixture and mix thoroughly.

Brazil Nut Petals

Place whole Brazil nuts in cold water. Bring slowly to a boil. Simmer 2 to 3 minutes. Drain and cut into thin lengthwise slices about 1/8 inch thick.

New Governor Inducted Into Office

dividual alike are inevitable," he said, adding:

"If we are to successfully meet the challenge before us, there must be a submergence of selfish interests. We can coddle no favorites nor resort to narrow partisanship in our search for victory and peace.

On increased government costs requiring higher taxes, the incoming governor said the civil defense program, already well advanced "is going to be costly—how much we do not know."

The increased costs, he said, should be met on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The new governor emphasized that the policy of frugality would not extend to defense and human needs.

"Where our people's health is concerned, we will not stint," he said. "We will not be parsimonious in educating our children. We shall not be rigid in our treatment of the unfortunate among our citizens; nor will this administration be wasteful with the people's money.

"Our state must do everything it can to better the people's health. We propose to give without additional expenditures a reorganized and improved department of health dedicated to a full and thorough public service.

"The interests of labor and industry in Pennsylvania will continue to be treated with sympathetic understanding. We must and we will see to it that they live and work in harmony with justice to each.

SALES TAX QUERY

Washington, Jan. 16—(P)—Secretary Snyder, asked if the treasury is considering a "sales tax" as part of the administration's tax-boosting plans, said today "every source of revenue" is being considered. The treasury head replied similarly to other questions at a news conference about what proposals his aides are drafting to raise the $16,000,000,000 of new revenue asked by President Truman.

itary decision and would not necessarily halt future troop transfers. Douglas told his colleagues he will call for senate action through a resolution of his own, if necessary, on the Brussels conference agreement—which he said may call for sending 10 U. S. divisions to Europe.

The issue, Douglas declared, is too big for the president to settle on his own responsibility. Senator George (D-Ga.) and nearly all the Republicans who have spoken out have taken the same viewpoint.

Wherry sided with Senator Taft (R-Ohio) in challenging Mr. Truman's authority to act without approval of congress. He agreed with Taft on the wisdom of building up U. S. Air and Sea forces. He called for a 100,000-plane air force.

FIGHT INFANTILE PARALYSIS

JANUARY 15-31

Your MARCH OF DIMES money at work

The chart above shows what happens to each dime you contribute to the annual March of Dimes now under way throughout the nation. Almost eight cents of the dime is used to help pay for patient care for all those who need assistance—four out of every five stricken. A little over one cent of the dime goes for professional education and scientific research aimed at finding a cure or preventive for polio. A little less than a cent is spent on all other services. In 1950 the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis paid an estimated $20,000,000 for patient care, with many millions still owing at year's end. Chart is based on 1949 records.

THE MARKETS

New York, Jan. 16—(P)—The stock market whipped up a good deal of activity today while advancing prices only slightly. Gains were in a clear majority, but most of them were small. Only a handful of issues advanced as much as $1 a share. The heavy demand that built up in late trading yesterday after President Truman presented his $71,594,000,000 spending program for the 1951-52 fiscal year to congress, carried over into the new session. Several 10,000-share blocks of stock changed hands at the opening, as well as a number of others ranging upward from 1,000 shares. Soon after the start, the ticker tape, which reports transactions from the exchange floor, fell a minute behind. The jam was cleared after a few minutes and trading resumed a somewhat more orderly gait. Higher prices were paid for steel, motor, rubber, aircraft, gold mining, chemical, railroad oil and airline stocks. Brokers attributed the heavy flow of demand to the belief that huge budget spells more acute inflation.

Washington Letter

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—The crux of Sen. Robert A. Taft's criticism of President Truman's foreign policy seems to be that the Ohio statesman wants to know where it's leading. So does everybody else. As one defense official put it in an off-the-record session with a congressional committee, "It would be a great help if you gentlemen would pass some kind of a measure fixing the date at which the Russians might be expected to attack, and how they will attack. That would enable us to know how big an army to raise, when to have it ready, and where."

Senator Taft is frank and honest enough to admit that he can't predict whether the Russians will attack, or whether they won't. He says he doesn't know. Neither does anybody else. Senator Taft says that if you assume there's going to be a war, there will be one. It is apparently on this basis that he opposes sending U. S. troops to Europe. He thinks that putting U. S. divisions in Europe will only encourage the Russians to attack.

This may be right. But again nobody knows Russian psychology well enough to figure it out. Take the converse of Senator Taft's assumption, however: Is it safe to assume that if the United States does not encourage the rearmament of western Europe that the Russians will not attack?

But wherever the non-Communist countries let down their guard, there the Russians socked. They did it in Iran, Greece, China and finally Korea. This would seem to make a fair case that if European defenses are not built up, the commies will try to take over.

At any rate, this seems to be the basis of the Truman administration's foreign policy, as spelled out in the President's State of the Union message.

The real difference between the President and the senator really boils down to a difference on the degree of U. S. rearmament. What seems to worry Senator Taft is how the United States is going to support this super-duper defense effort without ruining the country. That has bothered a lot of people.

Department of Defense planning, however, has been geared to limited defense mobilization—not all-out mobilization. The Pentagon has been criticized by others for this, though not by Taft.

What the Department of Defense has been advocating is a 2,500,000-man defense, not a 7,000,000 to 10,000,000-man force. It calls for getting the defense production machinery ready for full-scale war production, but not for producing more than can be used now. So in spite of the senator's distrust of Pentagon brass, their planning on this seems very much in line with his own conservative views.

On strategy, Senator Taft's views seem to raise as many questions as his expressed distrust of Pentagon generals and admirals.

Senator Taft wants the United States to get out of Korea, but he would encourage the Chinese Nationalists to attack Red China. He hasn't decided whether the U. S. should bomb the China mainland. He would not defend western Europe, but he would defend Africa. Just how Africa could be defended, if Europe can't, is not made clear.

The senator wants the United States to be strong in sea and air power. He admits tactical war on land cannot be won by air, but he says sea and air power saved the evacuation at Hungnam. The senator says Japanese air and sea superiority enabled the Japs to take Malaya. But the record seems to show that the Japs fought their way down the Malayan peninsula by land, and they took Singapore by the back door land route where the British had planned no defenses.

DON'T MISS A BET—The good old capitalistic system of free trade and individual enterprise seems plenty good enough for these South Korean youngsters. As retreating UN forces pass through their village, they sell to the troops scarves like these. The scarves show the U. S., UN and South Korean flags, a U. S. bomber and a dragon, with the inscription: "Returned from Hell."

Atlantic Defeats Ramblers; Rockets Top Process at Y. M.

Smith and Lawton Atlantic moved back into a tie with Youngsville for second place in the Y City League last night, as they walloped the Ramblers, 69-37. In a second league scrap, the Rockets defeated the New Process with a 47-37 count.

Bill Weidert paced the Atlantic victory with 19 points, but Jim Peterson, of the Ramblers, took scoring honors with 23 counters on 10 field goals and three charity throws.

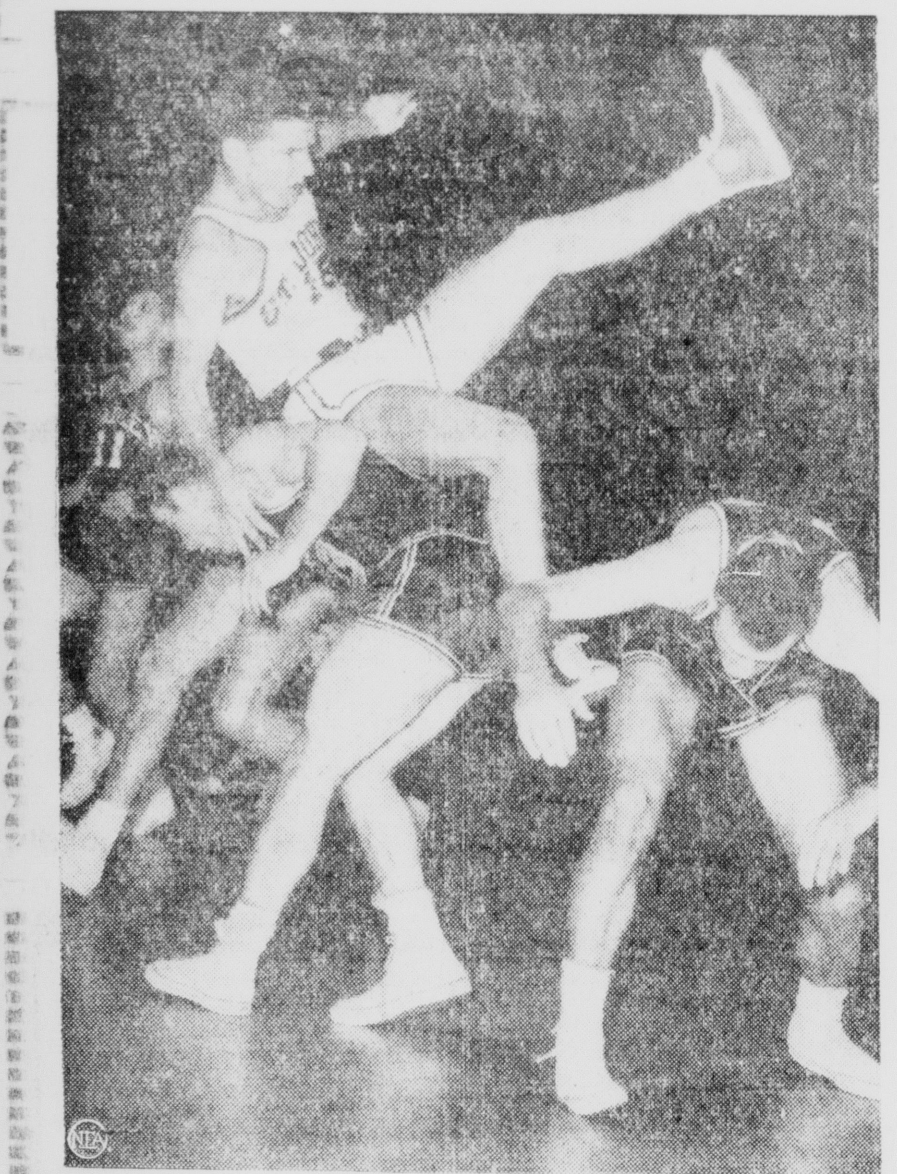

The winners picked up an early lead of seven points in the first quarter and remained well ahead for the rest of the game.

With Dan Jackson setting a hot trail of 21 marks, the Rockets staged a 16 point last period rally in upsetting the New Process. The losers held a one point edge at the end of the opening section and were only trailing by two points at the climax of the third quarter. But the Rockets proved too much, as the Process dropped their seventh game in nine starts.

Results of last night's games left the Ramblers and Process in the cellar once again and put the Rockets in fourth place.

No Loose Baseball Chatter For Recuperating Campanella

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Roy Campanella isn't going to be mouse-trapped into any loose conversation having to do with baseball. That is one of the many reasons why the burly Brooklyn backstop is so popular around the National League.

The reporter had a grand opportunity to interview Campanella as he rested in the Jamaica Hospital after his near-tragic accident. He was treated for burns around the eyes when a gas water heater blew up in his St. Albans, Long Island, home while he was lighting it.

The Dodgers came that close to losing the man many consider the finest catcher in the business. His doctor assures him that his sight will not be impaired.

"There is no reason for him to be fooling me," said Campanella. The right eye was still covered.

What did Campanella think of Charley Dressen? He never played under Dressen and the new manager was not coaching the Brooks when he came up in 1948. But Dressen was the one who brought him into organized baseball.

"He managed an All-Star team against the Baltimore Elites of the Negro National League in Newark in the fall of 1945," explained Campanella. "After the game, he told me to contact the Brooklyn organization."

Would Dressen in uniform, coaching at third base and talking to troubled pitchers make any difference?

"Burt Shotton never put on a uniform," replied Campanella. The man who calls the pitches at Ebbets Field left it for you to decide whether that was good or bad.

THERE is no reason why Ralph Branca can't pitch throughout a season as well as he does on occasion. As for Rex Barney, a pitcher can throw the ball so fast you can't see it, and he isn't worth his keep if he can't get it over the plate.

Joe Hatten couldn't have been getting anybody out after his low-hitter against the Braves in the spring. Had he been getting anybody out, Barney Shotton would have pitched the left-hander.

The Dodgers are a remarkable club. Pitchers should win with an outfit averaging more than five runs a game. The clubs to beat—all of them.

"Who gave us the most trouble last year?" asked Campanella, and he answered his own question. "The Reds and Cubs, that's who." A little more early foot and the Dodgers would have won last trip, but the Phillies weren't accidents.

"The Phillies played six games trying to win the clincher," said Campanella. "That shows how tough it is to win just one game. Ici alone enough out of 154 to win a pennant."

Obituaries

ELSA F. BIEKARCK
Elsa F. Biekarc, 86, widow of J. Carolus Biekarc, was laid to rest in Oakland cemetery Monday after simple family ceremonies.

Private services were held at the Templeton Funeral Home at 2:30 p. m. Monday, the Rev. Beecher M. Rutledge, rector of Trinity Memorial Episcopal church, officiating. Interment followed, beside her husband in the family plot in Oakland, with the following serving as bearers: Ward Dewey, Herbert McKenney, Rex Dewey, George Gindler and John Biekarc.

Attending the rites from away were Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Dewey, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Dewey, Mr. and Mrs. John Dewey, Akron, O.; Miss Phyllis Dewey, Dr. Kenneth McAlpin, Cleveland, O.; Mr. and Mrs. Ward Dewey, Jamestown, N. Y.; Charles Grettenberger, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Grettenberger, Tidoute.

Mrs. Biekarc lived in Warren during the greater part of her life. She was born Elizabeth James at Cockermouth, England, and, after extensive education and travel in that country, France, Switzerland, and Germany, came to New York around 1890, where she met and married Mr. Biekarc, then a young orchestra leader and concert violinist from Germany. They came to Warren about 1900 and quickly made a place for themselves in musical circles. Mrs. Biekarc will be remembered by older residents as hostess at many musical salons, and many parties at their small Sixth street home, for famous musical personages brought to Warren for concerts.

To younger residents, Elsa Biekarc was better known for her friendly interest in people, for her quiet words of praise for the good deeds of others, and for her encyclopedic knowledge of music, artists, composers, and their works. After the establishments of the Biekarc Music Store by her husband, she was an almost indispensable part of the business. Her advice and guidance was sought by everyone connected with music in Warren and vicinity until nearly the very last.

Mrs. Biekarc was a member of the Protestant Episcopal church during her entire life. Family communion was held at Trinity Memorial church Monday morning.

Surviving are her son, F. C. Rex Biekarc, 213 Jackson street, with whom she lived since the death of her husband in 1928; eight grandchildren, John Valerie and Violet, of Warren; a namesake, Elizabeth Frances Rae Brant, Grand Forks, N. D.; Phyllis Dewey, Cleveland, O.; Robert, Rex, and John Dewey, Akron, O.; There are also two great-grandchildren, three sisters in Cincinnati, O., as well as numerous nieces and nephews in England, a nephew, Lionel Hetherington, Chicago, Ill., and a grand-niece, Nan Hetherington, Warren. A daughter, Violet, preceded her in death in 1929.

RAYMOND BAUER

Raymond Burdette Howard Bauer, 57 Hemlock street, died at Warren General Hospital at 8:55 a. m. today, having been in ill health for the past three years.

He was born in Warren county July 10, 1899, and had lived in this vicinity all his life. Prior to his illness, he was employed for three years by the Warren Gear Manufacturing Company. He was a member and past grand of Warren Lodge of Odd Fellows, also a member of Kossuth Encampment, No. 95.

Surviving him are the following sisters: Mrs. Leona Johnson, Mrs. Katherine Klenck, Miss Jane and Miss Mildred Bauer, all of Warren, and one brother, Bryan Bauer, Newburgh, N. Y.; several nieces and nephews.

Removal has been made to the Templeton Funeral Home, where friends will be received at the usual hours, starting at 2 p. m. Wednesday. Services will be held there at 2:30 p. m. Friday, followed by interment in Oakland cemetery.

PER ERICK SELANDER

Per Erick Selander, 606 Prospect street, died at his home at 7:55 p. m. Monday, following an extended illness.

Born in Sweden on December 12, 1862, he had been a resident of this community for the past 37 years and followed the trade of carpenter for many years. He was a member of Calvary Baptist church and faithful and active in its affairs until he was taken ill.

Surviving him are the following children: the Rev. John Selander, missionary in Assam, India; Mrs. Floyd Moore, Warren; Mrs. Edith Knutson, Akron, O.; Mrs. Esther Hummel, Denver, Colo.; Eric Selander, Safety Harbor, Fla.; Emanuel Selander, Tidoute; and Miss Ellen Selander, at home; also 23 grandchildren, 29 great grandchildren, a number of nieces and neph

Polio Puzzlers

What do you know about polio? With the 1951 March of Dimes campaign under way through the nation this month and with Warren's Tag Days set for Friday and Saturday of this week, readers may want to test their knowledge concerning the drive and the disease against which this fund-raising campaign is directed.

Each day, today through Friday, the Times-Mirror will offer you Polio Puzzlers. Study the questions carefully and see if you know the answers:

Q. Does infantile paralysis always cripple those who get the disease?

A. No. At least 50% of the patients recover completely without paralysis, about 25% are left with minor handicaps not sufficient to interfere with normal activity, approximately 17% suffer permanent severe paralysis, about 8% usually die.

Q. Who is eligible for help from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis?

A. Anyone who has polio—regardless of age, race, creed or color—who cannot without hardship pay all bills for treatment, including hospitalization, nursing care, respirator, braces, crutches and wheelchair. The National Foundation pays for these things in whole or in part, depending on the need.

Hearings May Be Held On Newsprint Supply And Prices

Washington. —(AP)— The senate small business committee said it may hold hearings on the newsprint supply and price situation if small newspapers appear likely to face "widespread distress."

The committee devoted a section of its first annual report to the newsprint problems of such papers. The group said these publications include about 750 daily newspapers and about 8,000 weeklies and semi-weeklies.

They require about three per cent of the total newsprint production, which for North America is estimated at 6,317,000 tons for 1950, the committee added.

The report said "considerable comment" had been occasioned by "the uniform action of the newsprint industry of announcing in October and November a price increase of $6 a ton, bringing the cost to $106 a ton."

The committee said one member of the industry had "ventured the opinion that the Canadian mills which set off the general price boost did so in an attempt to anticipate the possibility of price controls by the U. S. government."

The report added that while newsprint manufacturers unanimously cited rising costs as the reason for the recent increase, "the reported profit position of many mills reflects a very wholesome condition within the industry."

VOYAGE TO EDEN

By Bennie C. Hall

Chapter 4

MOLLY awoke the following morning wishing she had never heard the word "fun," much less tried to experience it. She had slept very little because of the intense pain in her foot and ankle, and now that it was morning the thought of her own stupidity bore down upon her.

She had tried to beg off a few minutes after they arrived on the promenade deck, while the orchestra was taking a brief recess. But Bert Hasbrook had piloted her over to a table where his red-headed twin sister, Patricia, and Peter O'Malley, the ship's doctor, were seated. After introducing her, he had ordered drinks for the party of four.

After that there had been no chance to leave. The instant the music began again, he had jiggered her out onto the dance floor and there had been nothing to do but fall into step. A little later Doctor Peter O'Malley had cut in, and she was able to relax into a less strenuous routine. The ship's doctor was a smooth, graceful dancer—as he would be, Molly thought disparagingly, being more of a professional dreamboat than a bona fide medical man.

"You're nice to dance with," Molly Leonard, he had told her in a voice that had all the intimate qualities of a caress. "You don't cling. Why, you're as light as a feather."

"Thank you, Doctor O'Malley," she had answered with determined politeness.

OH, she'd had fun all right. That is, if dancing on hot coals of fire that sent pains up your legs and made you see stars could be called fun. There had been no dearth of dancing partners. She had met a lot of charming young people who had nothing to do but have fun. But she was paying for it now, would probably go on paying for the rest of the voyage.

As she lay in her berth, surrounded by hard-earned luxury and bon-voyage flowers, practically marooned. She knew she could not, with any degree of fairness, blame Doctor Peter O'Malley for her plight. But somehow she did. For all Bert Hasbrook's over-strenuous manner of dancing and his casual dismissal of her protests that she was tired, she did not blame him. Bert was only a playboy; pretended to be nothing else. He had been honestly trying to show her a good time.

But Peter O'Malley, had he been conscious of anything besides his own stunning good looks and the fact that he was driving all the silly girls ga-ga, might have known from the strained expression on her face that something was wrong. She must have looked strained and, after all, doctors were supposed to notice such things; to look under the surface, as it were. He knew she had stumbled; had even remarked on the possibility of a turned ankle.

In any case, had he been a normal doctor instead of a glorified playboy, she would not have denied her possible injury, and he would have done something about it. At least he would have warned her against dancing for the time being.

"As if I didn't know that," Molly reminded herself, guiltily conscious that she was being unfair. "Even a strained ligament—and that's all it is—can be tricky. And it certainly does hurt."

She sat up in her berth and unwound the bandage that she had hastily improvised upon reaching her stateroom shortly after midnight. She was agreeably surprised to discover that her ankle was but slightly swollen, in spite of the punishment it had taken. She felt of her foot, assuring herself that there were no broken bones. Then she should be able to navigate, she decided, if she moved carefully.

It would be a painful process, of course, but she would walk as little as possible. No one—but no one—must ever know that she had been silly enough to dance all evening in sheer agony, simply because she had wanted so desperately to conform and have fun.

Carefully, she got out of her berth and, favoring the injured foot, made her way over to the clothes closet. After a moment's deliberation, she brought out a lavender linen sports dress and placed it on the back of a chair, where it would be ready when she'd finished her bath and otherwise completed her toilette.

A few minutes later, still favoring the aching foot, she was brushing her curls till they glowed, tying a ribbon band around her head as protection from the sea breeze and slipping into the dress. She had paid far too much for the lavender linen frock, but as she looked at her reflection in the panel mirror that flanked the bathroom door, she did not regret the extravagance. It was precisely what she needed to counteract the ravages of a restless, pain-racked night.

She had to acknowledge that its smart lines did flatter things for her figure, and its color seemed to point up the amber lights in her eyes. She remembered that Bert Hasbrook had called her eyes brown, while his scatterbrained twin sister, Patricia, had insisted they were green. But they weren't; they were amber. Doctor Peter O'Malley, as self-engrossed as he was, had remarked upon that.

Slowly, she made her way down to the dining salon and managed to achieve a nonchalant, though painful, entrance. The head steward greeted her pleasantly and ushered her to a table overlooking the water. It was a large round table, set to accommodate five people, but only two—a man and a woman—were sitting there.
